

The figure displays five tori, each with a different configuration of colored contour lines (red, green, blue) and their associated external field lines. The tori are arranged in two rows: three in the top row and two in the bottom row. Each torus is divided into four quadrants by a vertical and a horizontal line. The contour lines represent different physical quantities, and the external lines show how these quantities interact with the torus's geometry.

The figure displays five tori, each with a different configuration of colored contour lines (red, green, blue) and their associated external field lines. The tori are arranged in two rows: three in the top row and two in the bottom row. Each torus is divided into four quadrants by a vertical and a horizontal line. The contour lines represent different physical quantities, and the external lines show how these quantities interact with the torus's geometry.